Eclipse (Relinker) is a programming toolkit (library) designed to link multiple programming languages or languages and programming paradigms into a single common code base. How does ECLIPSE work? Eclipse initially provides, via a plugin API, generic components to build all kind of software. In this way a developer is free to use the Eclipse Eclipse project using ECLIPSE. In a second step the generic components are replaced by provided code generators. The code generator use the technology of code-reuse and the isomorphism of programming language to create code in the programming language of the software.Q: Possible to loop over 2 columns and get the index?
